WHAT IF EVERYTHING YOU THOUGHT AND BELIEVED ABOUT SUCCESSFULLY HANDLING YOUR INSURANCE CLAIM WAS WRONG?

There are many ways building owners handle an insurance claim, but unfortunately 84% of them don't work. The only way to effectively handle your storm damage insurance claim is to work with experts who have experience and who know storms and the damage they cause inside and out.

Storm Hawks™ wants you to know that regardless of how big or small a storm is or how big or small the damage is, storms cause unseen issues that affect people for years to come.

We are, without a doubt, the leading authority from technology to equipment, communication, and experience and we have the leading experts from around the country working with us.

In order to provide a snapshot of some of the things Storm Hawks™ do, please take a look at the Storm Damage Blueprint that illustrates our process.

Storm Hawks provide proven strategies.

Storm Hawk's Storm Damage Blueprint process is a faster way to maximize the insurance claim.

The other option is to do what most building owners do. Allow the insurance adjuster and its engineer to walk the roofs by themselves and provide a damage report. After getting the insurance report, the building owner hires a design professional (architect, engineer or consultant) to work with the insurance company. These great professionals have minimal or no training/experience with large insurance claims. The typical result is that they specify only what the insurance company wants to pay. The design professional then creates plans and specifications that are bid out and awarded to the low bidder.

Our process is much different...

First, we accumulate data and show physical damage and actual results.

We do this using ADVANCED forensic equipment and training. This is where we uncover "curtain damage" not seen by the insurance adjuster or its consultants.

We operate with the best forensic reports in the industry.

All of these things lead to us building a superior case with multiple strategies that go beyond looking for the obvious storm damage or competing against the insurance company's engineer reports.

We create detailed research findings with actual proof that supports what the insurance company found on the surface. But we don't stop there! We then go much deeper and then leverage the insurance company's reports and engineers to expand their claim to cover the actual damage.

Our team of experts works with Insurance Companies all over the country, every day. They are familiar with and support our process. It is the most thorough in the country and the best part, is that it doesn't compete with them, it only supports them.

Here are the facts about the Claim and your money.

Storm Hawks fees are paid 100% by the insurance company. You are not liable for fees. Storm Hawks team is also able to get others fees that most building owners pay out of pocket instead of being paid by the insurance company. This is where the multiple strategies "pay-off big" for the building owners we work closely with.

The Storm Hawks already have a pre-established relationship with every necessary official who will oversee and verify the damage report and insurance payout.

All insurance claims are handled fairly where the insurance company will be responsible for paying the government regulated amount for your repairs. It is our responsibility to illustrate to them the damage and comprehensive nature of repairs necessary to bring your property and buildings up to a safety standard and quality that will last long term.

Perhaps the most significant thing to understand is that the Storm Hawks have Insurance Professionals working on both sides of your claim. We work together to establish what the best resolution is for You. No one else has this relationship and alliance to serve a win/win/win and fair conclusion to this delicate balance and situation.

We will provide Advance communication technology during the claim process –A private web site created to download documentation – Blueprints, pictures, insurance policy, videos, contacts, X-Vision thermal images, estimates and much more.

Lastly let me say this – the insurance company expects to pay the legal amount for these repairs. They are prepared to do it, but they don't have to unless you ask for it and present your findings and build a compelling iron clad case for this to occur. We and your team will ask, present, and secure the proper legal claim amount for you.
